WHEN NAPOLEON WALKED.

An Incident of the Tragic Retreat

It was on Nov. 25, at about 7 o'clock in the morning, when we saw the bend of the column. The first we saw were generals, a few of whom were on horseback, but the majority on foot. The latter painfully dragged themselves along, almost all having their feet frozen and bound up in rags and pieces of sheepskin and dying of hunger. We then saw what was left of the cavalry of the guard. The emperor came next on foot, with a stick in his hand. He was muffled up in a large capote lined with fur and wore on his head an amaranthine velvet cap edged with black foxskin. On booker suits and extra pants for boys, at his right marched, also on foot, King Murat; on his left, Prince Eugene, vicercy of Italy; then Berthler, prince of Neufchatel; Ney, Mortler, Lefebyre for Dorris this morning for a two nights and other marshals and generals whose corps had been partly de-

They were followed by 700 to 800 offeers and subofficers, marching in order and bearing in the greatest slience the eagles of the regiments to which they had belonged and that had so often led them to victory. They were the remnant of over 60,000 men, My poor Picart, who had not seen the army for a month, gazed on stiently, but his convulsive movements showed only too well what he felt. I saw big tears roll down the cheeks and fall on his mustache, from which icicles were hanging. Then, turning to me, "Really, compatriot, I do not know whether I am asleef or awake; I weep because 1 have seen our emperor marching on foot, a stick in his handhe that was so great and who has made us so proud!"-"Memotres of Sergeant Bourgogne."

TOKYO'S SLUMS.

Worse Than the Worst In Paris, Londen or New York.

Tokyo has slums whose poverty reaches the last depth of human degradation. Below the cellars of Paris. the sileys of London and the crowded Japanese capital reveals a lower guif. It is a region that no ray lights. Your moldy man of Parts and your "boollgan" of London do have at times flerce joys and moments of seld pleasure, but the microscopic intensity of the distress to the Shitaya quarter of Tokyo bars out all hope. Tokyo has far too many poor people, and their dis position is a pressing problem. Thou sands are shipped to Kores and Formosa, but the pressure steadily to creases owing to the constant migration of ambitious Japanese from the provinces to the capital city.

Japan carefully avoids all public refto these great sores on its body politic. Their existence is hidden from the foreign visitor. Rarely does a tourist see the slums, and specialists studying the city for precise informstion are seculously kept out of the poorest quarters. Japan is so skillfully press agented that the existence of these miserable purileus is not even suspected by the average student of conditions. It is a journalistic rule in Japan not to say anything that betrays weakness in the life of the people, and it is a rule generally observ-But there are writers in Japan who think that in adopting the civilization of the occident the republican form of government should also have been imported, and these give the mintatry trouble at times by telling plain, unpalatable truths. The Kokumin newspaper detailed a representative to live the life of the lowest and poorest in Tokyo, and his articles dealing with life in the Shitaya district created an immense sensation. When translated into English in pamphlet form the government promptly bought up the entire edition and destroyed the plates. —Waiter J. Kingsley in World's Work.

When Making Bubbles. An Interesting Item

The Klamath Falls Military Band needs a piano. Just a piano won't do, it must be a good one. To stand the rough usage of dance work and as a club-room instrument, and still be musical enough to meet the severe requirements of solo and vocal accompaniment work, it must be strictly high grade in every particular. Now we can't afford to pay the retail price of such an instrument, and after corresponding with several leading piano houses on the coast, ten per cent dis count was the best I could get. Now I have been in the music business several years, both as a dealer and piano toner, and I know something about the prices and values of pianos. I know that we can afford the highest grade instrument made if we can only get the benefit of wholessle prices. After considerable correspondence with manufacturers I finally have been fortunate enough to secure the agency for Klamath county for the Baldwin piano, and there isn't a better piano made than the Baldwin. It is necessary, however, for me to buy four piance in order to get the benefit of the wholesale price. -

Now here's the point: I'm not going into the piano business, I've something else to do; but if there are four people in Klamath County who want a first grade piano at the price usually asked for a cheap stencil instrument, here is an opportunity you'll never see again in a tifetime. People don't usually sell pianos for tun, and ordinarily you'll pay the agent a profit of two hundred to five hundred dollars. I ask no profit whatever and I shall sell only the four pianos necessary to secure the wholesale price. This is strictly a cash proposition manufacturers don't sell at wholesale on installments. Now if you know of anyone in Klamath County who is in a position to appreciate such an opportunity, you will confer a favor on the band by referring them to me.

SELECTED HIS OWN GRAVE.

Dead Shot Bill Found the Marshel Was Not to Be Bluffed.

When Dead Shot Bill rode into Haye City one day in the early seventice with his hat pulled down over his eyes and a hard look around his mouth those who knew him said that he had come for blood. He had not, however. He had come to have an understanding with Dave Mills, who had lately been appointed city marshal. Bill sat on his horse in front of the Star saloon until Dave came along, and when they had saluted each other and shaken bands he said, "Dave, what about this city marshal business?" "I'm goin' to keep order," was the reply. "No more shootin' up the town?" "No more, Bill." "You'll stop it?" "I will."

"Say, Dave, you can't do it. You are a good man, but you jess can't do it. I'm comin' in tomorrow to capture the town." "Don't try it on, Bill."
"But I shall, Dave." "Hev you got a few minits to spare?" asked Dave as he gave a hitch to his gun. "A hul hour. What's wanted?" "Come over to the graveyard, Bill, and select your last restin' place. It's fillin' up purty fast, but thar ar' a few choice left." They went over the creek to Boot hill, the three acre spot set aside for the dead, and as Bill got off his horse Dave waved his hand and said, man at work diggin' the grave."

Bill walked over the ground and selected a sunny spot on the south side of a knoll and said it wo do. The city marshal called to a Chinaman who was passing and ordered him to get a shovel and dig a hole, and then he turned to Bill with, "Waal, at what time tomorrer kin I expect you?" ut noon, Dave." "Sure to come?" "Dead sure. I never disappoint an audience, you know," "I'll be ready. Goodby, Bill." "So long, Dave." At 11:55 o'clock next day Dead Shot Bill came into Hays City with a whosp and a yell, his broncho on a dead run and a gun in either hand. At 12:05 he was lying dead in front of the Wild West saloon, and at 12:45 the inquest had been concluded and he was occu-pying the grave he had selected. The city marshal had downed him, and the verdict of the jury was, "We are kinder sorry for the deceased, but it was all right and according to Hoyle." —Denver Field and Farm.
